NATION LEAGUE MOVES TO HALT WAR IN ARMENIA

EARNEST DEBATE IS HELD

Assembly Decides to Appeal to Powers to Find Nation Willing to Mediate.

Geneva—The assembly of the league of nations decided without a dissenting vote Monday to appeal to the powers in the hope of finding a government willing to undertake mediation between the Turkish Nationalists under Mustapha Kemal Pasha and the Armenians.

An earnest debate preceded the vote on the resolution presented by Viviani, former Premier of France, inviting the league to take the action indicated. It threatened at times, however, to justify the predictions of the league's opponents that the work of the assembly would flounder on the rule requiring a unanimous vote.

Lord Robert Cecil, A. J. Balfour, Rene Viviani, Bjalmar Branting, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, C. J. Dougherty (Canada) and M. Staliovich (Jugo-Slavia) participated, but the real contest was between Viviani and Balfour.

Balfour explained the failure of the league council to find a mandatory for Armenia. He referred to the refusal of the United States to accept such a mandate and hoped that the committee of the assembly might do better.

CROWDS ATTEND LORDS' DEBATE ON HOME RULE

Adoption of Measure Urged as Best Plan to Bring Peace.

London—The opening of the debate on the Irish home rule bill in the House of Lords Tuesday afforded a notable contrast to the apathy displayed when the measure was under consideration in the House of Commons. The upper house was crowded and many of the members of the Commons, including Premier Lloyd George, Andrew Bonar Law and Sir Edward Carson, listened to Lord Birkenhead's speech introducing the bill. Many peeresses were in the side galleries and the strangers' gallery was crowded.

Explaining the provisions of the bill, Lord Birkenhead read a letter from Sir Edward Carson, in which the Unionist leader declared he and his colleagues had made up their minds to accept the bill and work under the measure loyally.

Lord Birkenhead suggested that a secondary motive for the murder of British officers in Dublin last Sunday was the influence it would have on this debate and declared there is evidence that the Sinn Fein extremists are being beaten.

Cuban Sugar Planters Draw on $10,000,000

Havana—The National City Bank of New York has notified its Havana branch to place $10,000,000 at the disposal of Cuban sugar planters, to enable them to prepare for the coming crop, it has become known.

A plan for the extension of credit to European sugar importers to enable them to buy Cuban sugar is under contemplation along with other movements aimed at bettering the nation's position in the world's sugar markets.

The Chino Farm Bureau has appointed A. R. Brown and James G. Dickey members of a committee to investigate the matter of cooperative buying of seed oats among the members.

MEXICAN SHIP LINE TO ENTER SAN FRANCISCO

FREE PORTS ESTABLISHED

Southern Republic to Place 5 Steamers In Pacific Coast Trade.

San Diego—Word that the 3000-ton steamer Mexico and four other freight steamships formerly operated by the La Cia Mexicana de Navigacion Company of Vera Cruz, but not under the management of the Department of Fomento, Mexico City, will be employed in passenger and freight service between San Francisco, San Diego and west coast Mexican ports, was received here Tuesday from Guaymas.

The Mexico and the four other vessels that will be placed on the California run formerly were owned by Salvador Alvarado, recently Governor of Yucatan, but now secretary of treasury under the Obregon government. Alvarado, as head of the Cia Mexicana de Navigacion Company, turned these vessels over to the government with the request that they be sent to the West Mexican coast to develop the maritime trade at those ports.

In line with this policy of maritime trade expansion, the Mexican government has established free ports at Guaymas and Mazatlan and is urging Mexican shippers to co-operate in the upbuilding of commercial relations with American exporters and importers.

The Mexico, the largest vessel of the fleet that will be employed in the new freight and passenger service, is of 3100 tons register, 310 feet long and was built in 1913 by W. Hamilton & Co., Ltd., of Glasgow.

RAINFALL CEASES, FLOODS AVERTED

Sacramento Valley Conditions Improve Following Storm.

Sacramento—According to reports received here Tuesday, rivers and creeks in the Sacramento valley are receding with the exception of the extreme southern end of the valley, where the Sacramento river is rising slowly. The predicted rain did not fall. No further damage from the storm, which for a time threatened to flood many acres of rich farming land, is expected.

The total rainfall at Colfax is reported at 15.36 inches. The precipitation for the same date in 1919 was 2.46 inches. Lake Spaulding, which supplies water for Colfax and several other Placer county towns, has risen nine feet.

Schools opened in Chico Tuesday for the first time during the storm.

Eight inches of rain fell in Shasta county in five days, but no damage was done. The rainfall at Walker, Siskiyou county, for five days was five and a half inches.

A record precipitation fell at Kennett, where over twenty inches of rain fell in three days.

Many Changes in Auto Law Suggested

Sacramento—Many amendments to the present State motor vehicle law will be presented at the coming session of the Legislature following the plans outlined at the conference called Tuesday at the State capitol by Superintendent Charles Chenu of the motor vehicle department, and at which scores of representatives of the allied automobile industries, good roads associations, State officials, police officials and county supervisors were in attendance.

One of the startling changes suggested and one which will doubtless meet with favor because it will mean the paving of highways through cities is an amendment proposed to give cities as well as counties a proportionate share of the license receipts.

William J. Locke, secretary of the California League of Municipalities, of Alameda, declared that if the cities are not given their share of the license receipts the counties at least should be compelled to repair major links of highways that run through cities and towns. He said some small towns are built along the main highway and are financially unable to pay the heavy costs of repairing the highway.

It was also stated the law relative to the loading of trucks should be changed so as to insure even distribution of weights, and suggested that the tail lights on trucks be placed near the left hand side.

Equalization of the license tax on automobile stages and privately-owned machines was urged by State Motor Vehicle Superintendent Charles J. Chenu. He said a bus uses and wears the highways much more than a privately owned car, and that therefore the busses should be taxed accordingly.

Despite the unprecedented demand [illegible] banks by growers for money with which to finance the handling of crops both banks and growers have [illegible] the harvest season unscathed, according to Frank F. Stern, bank commissioner who stopped in Visalia en route from Imperial Valley to San Francisco.

"Thine Is the Glory"

This painting, which hangs in National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, Washington, depicts the homage of America's fighting men to American womanhood as mobilized for service in the World War by this organization. It is the collaborative scientific and art creation of Major Joseph Gray Kitchell, late of the General Staff, U. S. A., and F. Luis Mora, of the New York School of Art. The face of the central figure is a composite of the features of a thousand Red Cross workers selected for the purpose.

NO RENTAL DROP SEEN FOR YEAR, SAY MANAGERS

MATERIALS STILL HIGH

Apartment House Owners Are Strongly Opposed to Japanese Ownership.

Del Monte—Representatives from all sections of the State organized the California Apartment House Association in a meeting at the Hotel Del Monte Tuesday.

One of the first acts of the new association was to go strongly on record against any Japanese owning any interest in any apartment within the boundaries of the State. Thomas J. Christal of San Francisco made a spirited talk on the subject. He issued a warning to the general public to be on its guard against the fate of the State of Washington where 80 per cent of the apartment houses are owned by Japanese.

Christal introduced a resolution which placed the new association on record to go to the State Real Estate Commission to revoke the license of any real estate broker who sells or rents an apartment to a Japanese or his representative. It was adopted.

"So far we have only three apartments owned by Japanese in San Francisco, and the support of the association will now enable us to prevent our apartment houses from falling into their hands, the same as happened in Washington," said Christal.

In the general discussion the apartment house owners and managers voiced the opinion that the present scale of rentals would remain practically the same for at least another year. The high cost of building and furnishing materials was cited as the reason for this.

FIRST MOTOR TANKER BUILT IN U. S. DELIVERED

Charlie Watson Turned Over to Owners by Union Construction Co. of Oakland.

Oakland—The Standard Oil Company has added to its fleet the motor ship Charlie Watson. This vessel is the first steel motorship of any class to be built on the Pacific Coast, and her builders take pride in the fact that she is the first motorship tanker built in the United States.

The Charlie Watson is built for service in Alaska waters and is especially designed to meet Arctic conditions. The electric equipment is probably more complete than that of any vessel now operating on the Coast. The vessel is outfitted with electric siren fog signal, the newly perfected Butler electric sounding machine, the magnavox marine telephone and various other new and interesting devices designed for the safety and convenience of the crew. All auxiliary machinery is also electrically driven from two 100 kilowatt General Electric generators directly connected to two 150-horsepower Dow three-cylinder Diesel engines.

The Charlie Watson is equipped with twin Diesel engines, developing 550-horsepower each, and directly connected to the twin propellers. When full loaded and under full power, the ship will make eleven knots an hour.

Beginning at the south end of the library lot on First street the walk will extend through the remainder of that block and along the next block to Rincon avenue, thus making continuous walk from Campbell avenue through the Hyde Residence Tract to Sunnyside avenue, passing the property of Will Mason, J. S. Fay, G. L. Speegle, Luman Gard, Mrs. Wakeman, George Hyde & Co., and G. H. Isbell.

ALUMNI BEATS HIGH

The Alumni five thoroughly demonstrated its ability to "comeback" in the annual Thanksgiving Day basket ball game by takng the high quint into camp to the tune of 43 to 25. The highs were short two of their good men but put up a game fight and gave the oldtimers a run for their money. One of the big attractions of this game was big Cornelius Erwin Righter of Stanford basetball and football fame in action again with his former schoolmates. Other Stanford students home home for the holidays and in the game were Jim Fablnger and Joe Gomes, while Archie Steindorf held the official score board.

Weight and heigh twas a big asset in the alumni favor but the agility of the lighter boys called forth repeated applause.

Late in the game, Gross sustained a sprained wrist and will be out of the game for some time, which will greatly cripple the highs.

CAMPBELL SHOWS UP BALL PLAYERS

The married men went down to a glorious defeat at the hands of the single sluggers at the local diamond yesterday by a score of 9 to 7. In the course of the play it developed that Campbell has some very good baseball material and with a little practice could make a fine showing. Why can't Campbell have another such game in the near feature? The performers were all Campbell boys and lined up as follows:

C. B. Miracle as bought the Curtiss tract on the south side of Rincon avenue southeast from the grammar school. The Hyde Investment Co. and nearby residents are very desirous of having Third street enxtended through this tract and the Hyde tract to Alice avenue, and steps are on foot to try to bring this about. Both Rincon avenue, residents of Hyde Park tract and Sunnyside would all be benefited by such a move, making the schools and western part of town more easily accessible, and those wishing to visit these streets would find it much more convenient.

Ed Arnott and family arrived this week from South Dakota to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Arnott, and sister, Miss Arnott. Mr. Arnott states that prices of products have dropped so that that state is going to have a hard winter. Hogs have come down to 8c and some cattle have sold as low as 3½c a car. Corn and oats are very low. Still the prices of meats are the same and no sign of relief. They have come to this clime to make their home.

GETTING IN TOUCH WITH THE BEST

Edward Everett Hale used to counsel young people to converse every day with some one older, better and wiser than themselves. We cannot all do that, but we can do the next best thing: we can get in touch with them through the printed page, and enjoy the fruits of their wisdom and experience. Probably no publication contains so much from the writings of men and women distinguished in many ways as The Youth's Companion. A constant reading of the paper is a liberal education of mind and heart.

The Companion has no age limit. Professional men, business men and busy women prize it as highly as the young folks.

CHRISTMAS CARDS FOR SALE

Christmas cards are again being sold this year by the Stanford Clinic Auxiliary. If you are in need of some pretty Christmas cards tosend to friends for Christmas an excellent opportunity is given you to get them at a small cost and at the same time help support an organization which is doing good work with the money raised.

Last year $4000 was collected by the sale of Christmas cards. A report of the work done for the year shows that the money was used to give free medical attention to people who were unable to pay for it and provide them with whatever was necessary to help remove the physical defects. A list of articles bought by the clinic includes shoes, clothing, milk for children, food, bedding, free beds, sometimes a pair of crutches, spinal braces, etc.

But aside from the fact that money obtained through the sale of the cards is used to good advantage, anyone who wishes to send away Christmas cards could not do better than to purchase some of these cards, for they are pretty and inexpensive. They are sold for 50c per box of 10 cards, which is just 5c per card, and an attractive red Christmas box goes with them. An attempt is being made to have them distributed throughout the community as far as possible through the clubs. Anyone not obtaining them from the clubs, however, can get them at the Campbell High school from Miss Claribel Boesch.

THE FIGHT IS ON! WHO WILL GET THE NAVAL BASE? That is the burning question at San Francisco bay points. Vallejo already has it, and with the immense investment in materials, buildings and machinery that Uncle Sam now has, it should stay there as a matter of national economy.

Though not the largest yard in the country, the Mare Island plant cared for one-third of the entire navy during the war, while the other stations on this coast and six on the Atlantic handled the other two-thirds. The report of the Navy Department states that the Mare Island yard was the most economical and efficient of all. The dollar spent at Mare Island did the best service. Uncle Sam last year spent over sixty millions on his navy, and Mare Island got but one out of every fifteen dollars.

The impression that this is only an assembling plant is erroneous, as ships are completely built here, the only parts not made at the plant being the armor plate and guns.

The cost of completing a ship at Mare Island was $250,000 less on destroyers than at any other yard, and on larger ships of the same model a saving of $350,000 was made. This was due to the speed and spirit with which the men and foremen entered into their work. The Tennessee, built at New York, cost US $1,000,000 more than a like boat at Mare Island. One destroyer was launched 17½ days after the keel was laid, breaking the world's record for government or private-owned plants. This news was one of the greatest blows to the morale of Germany, and the word was spread broadcast for that purpose. In fact, Mare Island completed destroyers and delivered them in the war zone through the Canal in iess time than any Atlantic plant was able to. Not only is the work done more speedily and economically, but the quality is acknowledged to be better.

This yard is second in size, but far ahead in govenment output. The present government investment is $32,000,000 at Mare Island, and only an additional $26,000,000 will make it the best and most up to date. Other contenders for the base would junk this, and spend twice as much to grab the industry. The Hunter's Point plant would cost U S nearly $50,000,000, and take four to six years to complete; the Alameda site would require six to eight years and cost U S $51,000,000. Either location is within easy range of bombardment from the open sea. Mare Island is beyond such range. There is also plenty of room for several fleet divisions to anchor safely from sea range and close to the present plant.

One great favorable argument is that there has been no strike or unrest among the men, who are for the most part home owners at Vallejo, which is an ideal home town for home owners. It would be a crime to compel such a class of people to move to such hotbeds of unrest and petty politics as exists in the lower bay cities. This useless waste of money necessary to install a new plant so near, and the throwing to the winds of the present well established perfect organization with its millions of investment, is adding insult to injury. Just some more of the rotten political jealousies of San Francisco cropping out. It is hoped that the naval commission will choke the proposition at once.

The Stumbling Block

By Berton Braley

I'm the scorn of minds sulphitic of the esoteric critic
Of the little group that calls itself "Elect."
Parlor Bolsheviks ignore me and the doctrinaires all score me
For the dogmas and the schemes that I have wrecked.
Long-haired orators attack me with the thought that they can hack me
Into pieces they are certain won't be missed,
While some proudly abstract thinkers put on philosophic blinkers
Which prevent them from observing I exist.

I am dull and unromantic and the theorists grow frantic
When they find they cannot conjure me away;
I'm the block on which they stumble, I'm the thing that makes a jumble
Out of all the airy visions they display.
Though the lights of hope may beckon, I'm a thing that they must reckon,
Or their science and their skill will not avail.
And their ships so proudly steaming to a port of which they're dreaming
Will be thrown in wreck upon me as they sail.

I am stubborn, heavy, leaden, and the thought of me may deaden
Many notions that are glorious and fair;
I'm a bore, I can't deny it, and I wouldnt even try it—
I am stolid, vulgar, tiresome, but I'm there!
You can sneer and you can flout me but you can't get on without me,
Though you suffer with convictions most intense.
For your plan won't last a minute if you haven't got me in it—
I am nothing more nor less than Common Sense!

Safe Deposit Service

It all happened this way:—

You brought home valuable papers. You were very careful to put them in a safe place.

A day came when those papers were needed—very much. You dashed into the house. In the living-room you paused. You stood a minute. You scracthed your head. You stamped your foot. You roared to your wife: 'Where did I put those papers?" You turned things topsy-turvy, to no purpose. Long afterward, after you had been to no end of trouble and expense to get new papers, your wife found the old ones in the left hand corner of the bottom bureau drawer, under some old clothing, where you had put the documents for safe keeping. And it didn't comfort you to be reminded that you had done just such foolish tricks before.

You resolved to rent a safe deposit box. But you put it off—until your own story, accurately told in to-day's "Press," fairly took your breath. You hastened to the Campbell branch of the G. C. B. & T. C. You laid down $2 and selected a box. In this box you placed your valuable papers. You saw your box locked in a fire-proof and bnrglar-proof vault. You went home with chest up and head high. You were a business man complete.

"S. O. S." CALL FOR DENTIST

Residents of Alaskan Island Need Services of Man Skilled with Drills and Forceps.

Is any dentist hunting for a location? Here's one. It is on Afognak, an island lying east of the entrance of Cook's inlet, on the Alaskan coast.

While the icebergs float around occasionally and bump one another in the sea like giant monsters in a game of water polo, yet it is comparatively warm up there now, as the summer is coming on with its flowers and mosquitoes. But whether an Arctic winter or a brief summer is on, people will have the toothache up there near the Arctic circle the same as do the sweltering residents these days along the thirty-sixth parallel of latitude.

Miss Virginia Clark, an accomplished young woman who was born and reared on the island of Afognak, and is now teaching the youth of her native land and village, sends out this cry for a dentist. The information is given in a bulletin of the Alaska Bureau of Publicity:

"A dentist located here would have a snap," is the only information given out by Miss Clark. She gives no clew as to the financial standing of the patients, but the lucky dentist could no doubt fight off the H. C. L. nightmare by doing a piece of dental work for an Eskimo and taking his pay in walrus meat. Miss Clark does say that potatoes and garden truck thrive there, the fishing is good, and there are plenty of clams and wild ducks. Copper also is found in paying quantities, and placer gold mining is being successfully carried on along the beaches.

ALIENISTS CAN BE WRONG

Ample Proof That Even Most Able of Psychologists Are by No Means Infallible.

You will not find the word "moron," as used by psychologists and alienists, in many dictionaries, for it is a word coined only very recently to describe a certain type of person who is mentally defective although not insane. Col. T. Easby Smith of the selective service board, Washington, made a little speech at the Atlantic City meeting of the American Medical association in which he rather "guyed" his professional associates on the way they judged a man to be a moron or sub-normal in intelligence.

After relating how the board of psychology had set a certain soldier down as having the mind of a five-year-old child, he drew a hearty laugh at the expense of his colleagues by adding that this same board had analyzed the intellect of a certain member of President Wilson's cabinet and had pronounced it to be on the level of a twelve-year-old, and had in the same way set down an eminent general in command of one of our armies abroad as a ten-year-old in intelligence.

Bring Gifts to France.

A delegation from Abyssinia bearing rich gifts of ivory and silks for the announced purpose of congratulating France on her recent victory, appeared at the peace conference in Paris. This is in strict accordance with the ancient oriental procedure. The real purpose of a visit is not disclosed until preliminary ceremonies are concluded. These native Africans—claiming descent from Solomon and the queen of Sheba—wished to be in on the carving up of the world, for they have interests which are vital to them although little known to the rest of the world. Seated in that natural bastion of Africa, the Abyssinians have lived in greater or less security for unknown centuries. They are not negroes, but a mixture of Hamitic and Semitic races, with a culture of their own and professing the Christian religion, being a branch of the Coptic church of Egypt. Until recently they have been unmolested save by native tribes.

Keeps Off Potato Bugs.

And now comes a prophet, who arises in Missouri, and has published in a number of papers the following news for the especial benefit of those who detest to chase the elusive potato bug: "If a soup bean or two is dropped into each hill of potatoes when they are planted the potato bug will not bother them, and besides your crop of potatoes you will get one of beans as well. There is one farmer who has tried this experiment for five years and has never been bothered with bugs while his neighbors lost their crops. The bugs don't like the smell of the beans for some reason."—Kansas City Times.

BODY OF VANCOUVER MAYOR DISCOVERED

Portland, Ore.—The body of Mayor G. R. Percival of Vancouver, Wash., who disappeared October 17, was found hanging to a tree in a clump of heavy woods near the Oregon approach of the North Bank road bridge, near here, Monday afternoon. He had been in ill health before his disappearance. Percival was 60 years of age. He declined to be a candidate to succeed himself at the recent election owing to his health being poor.

FARM POULTRY

LICE INJURIOUS TO TURKEYS

Common Body Louse of Chickens Is Often Found in Sufficient Numbers to Be Harmful.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Four species of lice are commonly found on turkeys in this country. One of these, which occurs particularly on turkeys associated with chickens, is the common body louse of chickens. This species is not found in great numbers on turkeys, but it sometimes becomes sufficiently abundant to cause considerable irritation and doubtless is injurious both to the grown fowls and to the young. The shaft louse of chickens also has been found on turkeys, but probably does not breed on that host. The other two species seem to be native to the turkey, probably existing on this fowl in the wild state. The large turkey louse probably is most abundant. It occurs on the feathers on various parts of the body, especially on the neck and breast. The slender turkey louse is a species of good size, though rather elongate, resembling in shape the head louse of chickens. Normally neither of these species is excessively abundant, but on crippled or unthrifty turkeys they may cause serious annoyance and undoubtedly they are injurious to poults.

INEXPENSIVE HOUSE IS GOOD

Fowls Should Be Given Serviceable, Fairly Roomy and Well-Ventilated Structure.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is not necessary to build expensive houses for poultry, but they should be serviceable, fairly roomy, well lighted, and well ventilated without drafts. The house should be built with a view to simplicity, economy, and convenience, and should be constructed according to the location and climatic conditions.

The walls may consist of (1) one thickness of boards, matched or unmatched; (2) one thickness of boards, matched or unmatched, covered with one or two thicknesses of building paper or roofing; (3) one thickness of boards covered with paper, then shingled or covered with lapped siding or matched lumber, making a solid double wall; (4) double boards with dead air space between; (5) double boards with space between filled with straw, hay, or other similar material. The second and third methods are the most common.

An Inexpensive Open-Front Hen House.

BIG EGG LOSS PREVENTABLE

Consumer Compelled to Pay Higher Price for That Portion Which Finally Reaches Him.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In marketing poultry and eggs there is an enormous preventable loss in quality and value between the producer and the consumer. It has been conservatively estimated that this loss amounts annually to $75,000,000 in poultry and $45,000,000 in eggs. While this loss falls upon all who handle poultry and eggs it is borne chiefly by the producers and the consumers. The producers' loss, caused by a decrease in price, under present conditions represents that due to spoilage or poor quality. The consumers' loss is due to a curtailed supply because of the pounds of poultry and dozens of eggs that are either of poor quality or a total loss; hence the consumer has to pay a higher price for that portion which finally reaches him.
